Scentered Stem

Hi, I am Susan Kirn, owner and lead designer of Scentered Stem based in Annapolis, MD. My love of florals began in high school with horticulture and floral design courses. I returned to floral design in 2020 and was overjoyed at how unique,artful and eco-minded floral design was trending. My background in environmental science has made me particularly sensitive to waste and the impact on the environment that event florals have made and so I am consistently trying to bring a sustainably minded focus to the world of beautiful and impactful florals!

Fairytale Farmette

Kelly Weisner

Before envisioning Fairytale Farmette, I was a sustainable homesteader with a background in graphic design. Today, I'm the owner of Fairytale Farmette, a full-service cut-flower farm in Davidsonville, Maryland. Cut flowers are where farming and design meet — and I use my design sensibility to grow a curated palette of seasonal blooms and foliage. I love talking with customers about what's trending so I can bring in fresh colors, textures, and varieties each season. I'm passionate about pollinator habitat, so I prioritize biological pest control methods that support beneficial insects rather than harm them. My “happily ever after” is helping clients create their own Fairytale-inspired florals and décor.
